SECRETARY THOMPSON'S VISIT TO THE BROOK-LYN NAVY TARD YESTERDAY. annual inspection of the Brooklyn Navy Yard

THE NAVY YARD INSPECTION.

took place yesterday, Secretary Thompson having arrived there at half past ten A. M. The inspection was to all appearances much the same as the many which have been had before—superficial and hurried. The futility of any attempt to become familiar in a day with a yard occupying the great area of that of Brook-lyn is apparent to any one knowing its limits and the details of its many subdivisions or bureaus. No doubt much that relates to the Brooklyn Navy Yard was already known to the Scoretary of the Navy before he went to the yard, and the inspection but covered the form established by custom. In going to the Brooklyn Yard Secretary Thompson had some spe-cial objects in view, and his questions to the heads of bureaus and to Captain Temple, who acted instead of Commodore Nicholson, who is at Annapolis examining naval cadets, plainly indicated his familiarity with cortain details. In the shed in which the unfinished skeleton of the New York is housed is a patent lifeboat, the inventor of which is anxious to sell out to the government. When spot and June, $1.51. July, $1.70. Left of Street, $1.75. June, $1.75. the vicitors went to the Minusotts, and with the in-spection of her the day's work ended, the Secretary returning to town. Further inspections of the Eastern navy yards are doubtful, as Secretary Thompson has not yet made up his mind as to whether he will go to New England or return to Washington.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD :-The following additional courch collections and sut acknowledged by John F. Henry, treasurer :-- criptions to the Soldiers' Home fund are hereby

A WORD FOR LITTLE SUFFERERS.

An immense amount of good is annually done by he managers of St. Mary's Free Hospital for Children. in providing summer drives, pleasant river excur-sions and seaside trips for the convalescent little sufferers under their care. To carry on this good work an "Open Air Fund" has been started, to which the contributions of the humane and charitable are earnessly solicited at this season of general outdoor engineement. The immagers had hoped to be able to establish a seaside sanitarium, but have, in common with all other charnites, suffered from the prevailing dumess. They are confident, however, the generous assistance of the public will enable them to provide frequent excursions for the little sufferers. Contributions can be sent directly to St. Mary's Free Hospital, No. 407 West Thirty-lourin street.

A HIGHLY RESPECTED CITIZEN.

"You were intoxicated, Reilly. Whates your defence?" said the Justice at the Fifty-seventa Street

Court yesterday.

"It was my first time," said the prisoner, committing himself able start. "I've worked nercabout for ten years. I'm known in Fifty-ninth street and have a mighty respectable name. Ask Mr. Mahoney, Mr. Keiley, Mr. Moore, Mr. Molosey, Mr. Corkery, Mr. Smitu, Mr."

"Ten days."

FIGHT BETWEEN A PICKEREL AND CATFISH.

Those who have visited the New York Aquarium have probably noticed that the two tanks containing specimens of pickerel and catifeh are situated side by side and connected by a two-inch pipe through which the water circulates. Yesterday by some means the wire protection which covers the mouth of the pipe fell of, and a pickerel, cylidently of an inquiring turn of mind, immediately took advantage of the circumstance to make a four of inspection of the tank occupied by about a dozen catifish. The scene that followed shance to make a tour of inspection of the tank occupied by about a dozen catfish. The scene that followed was amusing in the extreme. The catfish, at the sight of the intruder, for sook the upper part of the tank and crowded together in one corner at the bottom, moving nervously about as if in council. The pickerel, although considerably larger than any of the catfish, showel from the first by his behavior that he had make a mistake, and instead of swimming gayly round and regaing himself with a low cathiso at once showed a respect for his little friends, which was surprising. Nay, more; so far from desiring to force his company upon those who clearly could dispense with it, he with a delicacy that was reireshing in one usually so rude kept himself so near the surface of the water that he appeared desirons, if possible to get out of it. The sequel explained all this sudden assumption of refinement, for presently the largest of the catfish left his little crowd of friends at the bottom of the tauk and, after a few urns round, hodly rose to the surface and took a good look at the pickerel, who appeared not to be aware of his presence. The catfish soon made himself known, for after taking another turn or two, as if to gather force, he made a rush and a but with all his force at the pickerel and then retired to his corner. The effect of the blow upon the pickerel was as if he had been electrified; he dashed wildly in all directions, except in the neighborhood of the catfish, and at length subsided to his original position. Thus ended round one, which was but a prelude to others of a like character, which was kept up for over an hour, when the pickerel reversed the position in which his usually swim as a signal of defeat and without a struggle yielded up the ghost, from that taken all the builty out of the pickerel, who, however, showed no signs of the punishment he received, for not a scale was damaged and a torn in was the only token of the late encounter.
